POETRY FOR YOUR HOME

A collection of mirrors,
home accessories and architectural hardware.
All handmade in Belgium.

"Our collection is more than just bathroom necessities; they are pieces of poetry crafted meticulously by Belgian artisans."

As an Interior designer, Julie often lacked finding beautiful home accessories for her projects. It led to the idea of illus, where the love for minimalistic design is combined with a passion for craftsmanship. A collection of mirrors, home accessories and architectural hardware: objects that are often forgotten by other designers, but are present in every home or office. The name illus is derived from the word illusion: clever objects can create illusions of light and space.

Handmade quality from Belgium

We partner with the finest craftsmen in Belgium to create our collection. Each piece is meticulously handcrafted, passing through several skilled hands before it reaches yours. This artisanal process introduces subtle variations, ensuring that every item is one-of-a-kind. Embrace the natural patina that develops over time, adding character and evolving charm to each creation.

Long lasting love

Illus embodies sustainability through its timeless design and materials that only grow more beautiful with age. We have witnessed our customers treasure our products throughout their lives, as each piece is lovingly crafted to last forever, becoming a cherished element that tells a story over time. Reflecting the highest standards of Belgian handmade quality and craftsmanship, our collection represents a thoughtful choice. The lasting beauty, durability, and unique character of our products provide long-term value, enhancing the overall ambiance of your interior, restaurant or hotel.

TECHNICAL DETAILS

A variety in appearances

The environment in which the brass finishing is applied plays a significant role in the final outcome. Factors such as humidity levels, temperature fluctuations, and even atmospheric conditions in the atelier can impact the appearance of the brass. These environmental variables can lead to subtle nuances and variations in color, texture, and patina intensity. Embracing the inherent variability in brass finishings allows each piece to possess its own unique character and charm.

Brass, known for its antimicrobial properties, not only adds a touch of elegance but also ensures a hygienic environment, making it an ideal choice for hospitality settings. Our products combine the timeless beauty of brass with functional design, ensuring both aesthetic appeal and practicality.

DARK BRASS

The dark brass patina offers a more dramatic and contemporary aesthetic compared to aged brass. It features deeper, richer tones, often leaning towards shades of bronze, charcoal, or espresso. Dark brass patina finishes exude sophistication and modernity, making them well-suited for contemporary or industrial-inspired interiors. The darker tones create a striking contrast against lighter surroundings, adding visual interest to the space.

AGED BRASS

The aged brass patina typically exhibits an antiqued appearance, resembling brass that has developed a natural patina over time. It may feature subtle variations in color, with hues ranging from golden to deeper amber tones. This finish is prized for its vintage or rustic charm, evoking a sense of history and character. It adds warmth and depth to the overall aesthetic, making it suitable for spaces with traditional, vintage, or transitional decor styles.

FINISHINGS OF ARCHITECTURAL HARDWARE

For the architectural hardware, on top of the dark or aged brass patina you can choose for a waxed or varnished finishing: the waxed version is unique in its tendency to evolve with use, becoming lighter in color through handling. This natural aging process adds a sense of authenticity and history to the architectural hardware, making it a dynamic and engaging choice for interior spaces. The varnished brass version has a matte finish, thanks to the protective layer of varnish applied to the brass surface. This matt finish retains its initial color and sheen over time.
